

Details from Chrétien Frederic Guillaume Roth, frontispiece to Denis Diderot and Jean le Rond d'Alembert, Encyclopédie (1780). https://commons.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:Encyclop%C3%A9die-_Diderot%27s_Tree_of_Knowledge.jpg

SCIENCE AND THE MODERN WORLD

HISTORY 106 * ICS 118 * SciSoc 118

Spring 2020 Prof. Evan Hepler-Smith T/Th 10:05-11:20am Codes: CCI, STS, CZ Science has never stood apart from politics, commerce, or culture; often, it has grown out of them. We will explore the development of science (physical, biological, environmental, & social) as an integral part of modern global history—and how knowledge about nature that arose in diverse past times and places shapes what we know and how we live today.